National Night Out is a crime and drug prevention awareness event that is sponsored nationally by the National Association of Town Watch and co-sponsored locally by the Roseville Police Department. This year is the 31st anniversary of this event with close to 39 million people across the country expected to participate. Come socialize and meet your neighbors!

The National Association of Town Watch also sponsors a crime awareness program called Dog Walker Watch that encourages dog walkers nationwide to serve as “extra eyes and ears” for local law enforcement agencies. Dog Walker Watch trains these individuals on how to effectively observe and report criminal activity.

Police Update

At our last board meeting, Officer Bryan Hays from the Roseville Police Department (bhays@roseville.ca.us) stopped by with an update regarding crime near our neighborhood. A convenience store was robbed and a drug arrest was made near Cresthaven. A couple of bikes were stolen from Folsom Road and Clinton Avenue. A burglary was attempted on Folsom Road, but the suspect – a 14-year-old male – was apprehended. Since late May, there have been some burglaries and residential break-ins near Cirby. Officer Hays thought it important to note that some of these break-ins were “door-kicks.” There was a spree of these in Roseville a few years ago. Although the suspects were apprehended, residents should think twice before leaving something of value at home when going out of town. ## Did You Know?

The very first church in Roseville is still open for worship today at Church Street and Washington Boulevard. The First United Methodist Church, dedicated in 1883, was built on a lot generously donated by Anna F. Judah. The church cost $2,500 to build, though much of the labor and materials were donated. J.D. Pratt, who operated a brickyard where Taylor Street meets Dry Creek, donated bricks for the structure. On the day of dedication, all the town saloons were closed in honor of the event. Saloon keepers were invited to take center stage and subscribe against each other, an action which raised an additional $900 for the church fund. The original church building has been enveloped by several expansions over the years, but still can be identified as the gabled portion that fronts Washington Boulevard.

That same year, Presbyterians got busy and built their own church on Vernon Street. By 1910, the congregation began to outgrow its walls, so they sold the church and two adjacent lots to the city for a City Hall. When construction began, part of the church was razed, leaving a portion to be incorporated into the new City Hall building. That part of the church was used for, believe it or not, a city jail. The facility served as the city jail until the Public Safety Building was built in 1973.

Third Track Project

Do you wish there were more daily Capitol Corridor trains between Sacramento and Roseville? Check out the proposed Third Track Project for increased service. The Capitol Corridor Joint Powers Authority (CCJPA) kicked off their environmental review of this new project on July 1. Join the discussion by participating in an online public scoping meeting that will be available 24 hours a day from July 16-August 1. For more details, visit <http://sactoroseville3rdtrack.com>.

About Us

The Hillcrest Neighborhood Association (HNA) is comprised of volunteers interested in neighborhood safety issues, being a collective voice to the City of Roseville, and promoting community with social events for those of us that live in the Hillcrest boundaries (Douglas to the North, Dry Creek on the West, Linda Creek to the South, and I-80 to the East). There are about 750 homes and businesses in the Hillcrest Neighborhood that are automatically members of the Association.

Board Elections

At our June 11th board meeting, we elected a new secretary to fill the previously vacant position. Andrea Hilderbrand has been doing an amazing job so far – you may have seen her posts about upcoming events on Nextdoor. We are very grateful for her upbeat and organized personality!

At our July 9th board meeting, we elected the newsletter editor, Lisa Morris, as a member at large. Please feel free to contact her on Nextdoor with any questions, thoughts, or newsletter ideas!
